

PIVOT3 DEMONSTRATES HIGH-DEFINITION VIDEO STORAGE AT GLOBAL GAMING EXPO

Spring, Texas –November 8, 2007 – Pivot3 Inc, the inventor of high-definition storage based on distributed RAID, will demonstrate its high-definition video storage solution at the Global Gaming Expo (G2E) 2007, Las Vegas, Nev., November 13-15, 2007. The Pivot3 solution demonstrations will take place in booth #5723 in a multi-vendor environment, including products from Arecont, Axis, Insight Video Net, IQinVision, Lenel, and Petards. Pivot3 high-definition storage will also be demonstrated in the Petards booth #5722.

“We are excited to be able to share our recent successes in the video surveillance area with organizations from the gaming industry,” said Jeffrey Bell, vice president of marketing at Pivot3. “We are here to show – through real-life case studies – that storage should not be an afterthought, but a vital piece of the video surveillance planning efforts. The Pivot3 high-definition video storage brings impressive cost savings to the end-user, and significantly increases availability and scalability for current video applications. Also, because we know that interoperability with these existing video applications is very important for our customers, we are demonstrating various scenarios in our booth, helping visitors understand the flexibility of our high-definition video storage solution.”
